

FAQS About Wei Herbal Formulas

Are There Side-Effects?

No. Herbs do not contain harsh chemicals or preservatives. Each formulation is checked for safety against bacteria, fungus and heavy metal. However, sensitive patients may experience minor GI discomfort. If such reactions occur, reduce the dosage or talk to your health care practitioner.

How Should The Herbal Formulas Be Taken?

Wei Laboratories Herbal formulas can be taken with or without food. Drinking a good amount of water is highly recommended while using our formulas.

Can I Take The Herbal Formulas With My Prescription Drugs?

Most herbal formulas may be taken by individuals who are also using prescription drugs, without contradictions. Please inform your healthcare practitioner if you are on any medication so they can best advise you what to do to avoid possible herb-drug interaction.

Can Children And Elderly Patients Take Herbal Formulas?

Yes, children and elderly patients may take herbal formulas. The dosages, however, must be adjusted for each patient depending on age, health and overall condition. Please see your healthcare practitioner for more information about dosaging.

What About Pregnant Women?

In general, herbs are not recommended during pregnancy. However, consult your healthcare provider for more information.

How Should I Store The Herbal Formulas?

Wei herbal formulas should be stored in cool, dry places away from sunlight and moisture. The UV radiation in sunlight may change the properties of the herbs. With liquid formulations, the formulas should be refrigerated right after opening.
